

Pathways for Startups – An update from Industry Stakeholders on the Latest Supports

Stakeholders who are prioritizing supports for life sciences startups in Atlantic Canada will be presenting a short pitch to our BioPort audiences. This event will build awareness of the latest resources, programming, supports, and funding opportunities for startups in our ecosystem. As these resources are constantly evolving startups could be missing out on critical support opportunities if they are not staying informed.

Join leaders from some of the sectors biggest supporters to hear how they've been staying in tune with the needs of industry.
